A NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Hi everyone ,
 We have a busy season ahead ,starting with our annual Symposium on Friday 17th July, and the Young Rural Ambassador Dinner in the evening. This will be followed a fortnight later by the Boots and Black Tie Ball and a week later the Spring Show Season starts. Also in the same week our Young Judges and Paraders and last year's Rural Ambassador, George Seppelt, go to the Brisbane Royal Show (the Ekka) and we wish them every success up there. A few more of our shows and then it will be the Royal Adelaide Show, with the remainder of the Spring shows following on until mid November. Although hectic at times, I enjoy it all immensely and will be attending as many as I can. Let's hope for some great weather and big crowds!!

Cheers , Michael.

South Australian Young Judges Head to the Ekka

Nine talented young South Australians have earned the opportunity to represent the state at the 2026 Agricultural Shows Australia National Young Judges Championships, to be held from 6–10 August at the Royal Queensland Show (Ekka).

Each competitor secured their place by winning their respective South Australian Young Judges State Final at the Royal Adelaide Show, earning the honour of competing against the nation's best in their chosen discipline on the national stage.

The National Young Judges Championships are hosted by a different state each year, with Queensland Ag Shows hosting this year's event during the Ekka.

We congratulate our South Australian representatives on their outstanding achievement and wish them every success as they proudly represent South Australia at the national championships.

Josh Wiltshire - Youth Competitions Coordinator

Gwendolyn Van Zwol, 19, Mt Pleasant | Merino Fleece Young Judges

Gwendolyn Van Zwol is a second-year Animal Science student at Adelaide University. She grew up on a small property with sheep, cattle and horses and became heavily involved in agricultural competitions through school, the SA Sheep Expo and the Royal Adelaide Show. Now the 2026 Mount Pleasant Young Rural Ambassador, Gwendolyn also serves on the Mount Pleasant Show and SA Next Generation committee.

"These competitions are so important in giving young people an opportunity to learn and grow without needing years of experience behind them," Gwendolyn said. "If I could give any advice, it would be to put yourself out there and have a go, because you never know what opportunity might present itself."

Maddison Hann, 17, Lucindale | Beef Cattle Paraders

Maddison hails from a seedstock and commercial cattle operation. Her family runs Angus and Brangus/Ultrablack cattle and sell around 150 bulls each year.

Through showing cattle at local, junior and Royal shows across Australia, the year 12 student has developed a love for cattle handling, beef production, cattle breeding and genetics.

"It's important to have paraders' competitions because the skills I've learnt competing are the same skills required for good stock handling and stockmanship," Maddison said.

Maddison plans to travel to North America and Canada in the future to learn more about global beef production systems and bring new knowledge back home.

SPOTLIGHT ON YOUTH

Olivia Baker, 19, Furner | Beef Cattle Young Judges

Olivia Baker grew up showing cattle through her family's Simmental stud, Woonallee Simmentals. Competing since the age of eight, Olivia has developed a strong interest in the beef industry and hopes to study veterinary science in the future. She's currently a receptionist at the Kingston Veterinary Clinic as well as a mat and reformer Pilates instructor at EJ studio in Penola and The Mat Method in Furner.

Olivia's biggest show ring achievement came last year when she won the 2025 National Champion Parader in Adelaide.

"Showing cattle has helped me build confidence, develop my skills and make lifelong connections in the industry," Olivia said.

Charlotte Poker, 24, Adelaide Hills | Meat Breeds Sheep Young Judges

Charlotte Poker found her way into agriculture through sheep showing at Urrbrae Agricultural High School and went on to complete a Bachelor of Agricultural Science at the University of Adelaide.

She now works with Thomas Foods International as a Livestock Administrator, while still staying involved in shows and associate judging across South Australia.

"I don't come from a farming background, but I have been fortunate to receive strong support from people within the industry. I also believe these competitions play a vital role in giving students from non-farming backgrounds, like myself, the opportunity to gain hands-on experience within the industry and build connections with stud breeders," Charlotte said.

Chris Thompson, 19, Mitcham | Dairy Cattle Paraders

Chris is in his second year at the University of Adelaide studying Animal Science and works in a dairy in his spare time.

His first ever show experience was at the Royal Adelaide Show, with Mount Pleasant Show marking his debut as an exhibitor.

"I fell in love with agriculture through my grandparents' property and have never looked back since," Chris said.

In 2025 he represented South Australia in young judges at the Royal Adelaide Show. His highlight so far is winning Grand Champion Heifer at the 2026 SA Calf Day.

William Phillpott, 20, Murray Bridge | Dairy Cattle Young Judges

William Phillpott discovered dairy at age 11 through the South Australia Dairy Youth Camp at the Adelaide Showgrounds.

Coming from a non-farming background, he quickly developed an interest in the industry and now works full time at Daish Irrigation and Fodder while milking cows on weekends and competing in dairy shows across SA and Victoria. He is the 2026 Southern Shows Association Rural Ambassador runner-up.

"These opportunities are so important to me as they open up other opportunities for the future. Having more opportunities to network, connect and work with likeminded and passionate people within the dairy community is all I want to do," William said

William is also a keen horseman and has represented SA at a national level for show jumping.

Ryan Philp, 16, Manoorra | Merino Sheep Young Judges

Ryan Philp is a Year 11 student (and self-described cricket tragic) raised on a cropping and Merino sheep operation. Ryan got his start in agricultural shows through the South Australian School Merino Wether Challenge at the Royal Adelaide Show and has since competed in young judges competitions across South Australia.

In 2025 he won the Merino Young Judges competition and placed second in Merino Fleece Judging at the Royal Adelaide Show in his first year in the senior age category.

"These competitions are important because they help build skills and connections that will benefit me for life and in a future career in agriculture," Ryan said.

Ruth Johnson, 16, Strathabyn | Poultry Young Judges

Ruth Johnson is the Strathalbyn Show Young Rural Ambassador.

She competes at country shows across SA, and volunteers with the South Australian Poultry Association at the Royal Adelaide Show. Ruth is a high school student working part time at Mitre10, with plans to study at university and become an accredited judge. Her highlight so far has been winning Junior Best Bird in Show.

"I started competing to gain experience in judging and handling poultry, and I've really enjoyed learning along the way," Ruth said.

Charlotte Chambers, 22, Netherby | Grains Young Judges

Charlotte is in her final year of a Bachelor of Civil Engineering and works as an Undergraduate Structural Engineer. She started grain judging in 2024, placing third, before winning the competition in 2025 after building on her grain classification experience at Viterra (now Bunge). Agriculture runs through her family, from farming at Alford through to agronomy and grain consultancy roles.

"For me, this competition brings me closer to the world my family lives and breathes," Charlotte said.

20 YEARS OF THE YOUNG RURAL AMBASSADOR AWARD

In 2006 the first state final for the Young Rural Ambassador Award (YRA) was held with nine state finalists from across South Australia. The first winner was awarded to John Nicholas and a state final has been held every year, with the exception of 2020, due to the COVID-19 Pandemic.

2026 marks the milestone of 20 years of the award, which was created to identify and encourage young people aged between 16 and 19 years of age involved with country shows to recognise their contributions and develop their skills. The award provides young people a forum to express their views through education and experience, and to develop closer links with the primary industries in South Australia.

For the first three years from 2006 until 2008, the title was the Young Rural Ambassador Youth Award, which was a little convoluted to say and write. So in 2009 the name was changed to Young Rural Ambassador Award, to complement the Rural Ambassador Award.

The award serves as a stepping stone into the Rural Ambassador Award (RA) for 20- to 30-year-olds, and we have had many YRA state finalists enter the RA state finals, which has been incredibly pleasing and highlighting succession planning is working in local rural and regional communities.

Currently on the SA Next Generation Executive Committee, 12 of the 14 members are past YRA state finalists, including 5 state winners.

Planning is well underway for the 2026 state final with 8 finalists competing for the honour of winning the 20th YRA state final. We wish all of them the very best and hope they enjoy the educational experiences and networking opportunities offered to them.

Below is the honour roll of past YRA state winners, with representation from 5 of the 7 show associations.

2025 RURAL AMBASSADOR ON TOUR

From Country Shows to the Commonwealth: A Year of Learning, Leadership and Opportunity

by George Seppelt, 2025 State Winner

My travels began in New South Wales with visits to the Guyra Show and the Sydney Royal Easter Show as part of the Rural Ambassador Exchange Program. Guyra showcased the universal passion of volunteers, with strong community involvement across livestock, fleece and pavilion competitions. I was welcomed warmly and valued the chance to assist across the grounds and learn from their committee.

At the Sydney Royal Easter Show, we gained rare behind-the-scenes insight into the operations of Australia's largest agricultural event. Meeting RAS staff, touring restricted areas and learning about the logistics behind major attractions — including the Freestyle Motocross team — highlighted the scale and professionalism required to deliver world-class entertainment. Conversations with ambassadors and volunteers from across Australia revealed shared priorities: recruiting volunteers, succession planning, youth engagement and balancing tradition with innovation.

I was also honoured to attend the 2026 Primary Industries and Regions Forum as a guest of PIRSA. The forum broadened my understanding of South Australia's primary industries and reinforced the vital role shows play in showcasing agriculture and inspiring future involvement.

Back home, attending the Northern, Southern and Central Agricultural Shows Association dinners confirmed the exceptional calibre of this year's Young Rural Ambassador and Rural Ambassador entrants. Their enthusiasm and leadership give me great confidence in the future of our show movement. As my term enters its final months, I look forward to the SA Country Shows Symposium and Young Rural Ambassador Dinner, followed by representing South Australia at the National Rural Ambassador Competition at the Ekka. A personal highlight will be celebrating the 150th anniversary of my own Jamestown Show — an extraordinary milestone for a community I'm proud to serve as Vice President.

My year will conclude in Cape Town at the Royal Agricultural Societies of the Commonwealth Conference, where I will represent South Australia and Australia on the international stage. I'm excited to bring home new ideas and insights to strengthen our shows into the future.

Reflecting on this year, one message stands out: agricultural shows are incubators of leadership, custodians of rural heritage and vital connectors between agriculture and the wider community. Investing in opportunities for young people — through programs like the Young Rural Ambassador and Rural Ambassador competitions — is essential to ensuring a strong future.

Thank you to everyone who has supported me throughout this journey: volunteers, committees, Agricultural Shows Australia, the RAS of NSW, the Guyra Show Society, PIRSA and the many individuals who have shared their knowledge and encouragement. This year has deepened my pride in being part of Australia's agricultural show movement.

Serving as the South Australian Rural Ambassador has been one of the greatest honours of my life. Over the past year I've represented our state's agricultural shows locally, interstate and soon internationally — meeting dedicated volunteers, industry leaders and passionate young people who share a commitment to rural communities. This year has reinforced that agricultural shows are far more than a single weekend; they connect communities, preserve traditions and inspire future leaders.

NEXT GEN NEWS

SA Next Gen starts off each year with our annual Committee Planning Day in February, where we map out the year ahead and build a jam-packed calendar of events. From country show visits and networking events to educational workshops, Young Farmer Challenges, bursaries, dinners and regular meetings, there's always something happening!

We kicked off the year at the SA Sheep Expo, where we hosted a Young Farmer Challenge for participants. It was a fantastic opportunity to combine agricultural education with hands-on, fast-paced fun, giving competitors the chance to test their skills in an entertaining team challenge.

Our committee and members also headed to the picturesque Yorke Peninsula for our annual regional trip. The weekend was packed with networking, educational tours across a range of agricultural and horticultural businesses, and visits to local showgrounds. Alongside plenty of laughs and great company, it was a valuable opportunity to learn more about our primary industries and the communities that bring us together.

We've had an incredible start to the year—but we're only just getting started!

Coming up, we're excited to host our Boots and Black Tie Ball, a fantastic evening of networking and celebrating young people making a difference in agriculture and their volunteer communities. Join us on Saturday 1st August at the Adelaide Pavilion. Your ticket includes food, drinks, entertainment and inspiring guest speakers.

If there's one event you don't want to miss, though, it's our Youth in Ag Day at the Royal Adelaide Show! This year's event will be held on 5th September 2026. Come along to watch the Young Farmer Challenge Quiz on the Goyder Pavilion Main Stage at 11:00 am, then cheer on competitors in the State Young Farmer Challenge at 6:00 pm in the Main Arena before the night show.

Want to keep up with everything we're doing or get involved? Follow us on social media and come along to one of our events—we'd love to see you there!
